

AMP40315 CERTIFICATE IV IN MEAT PROCESSING (LEADERSHIP)

The Certificate IV in Meat Processing (Leadership) focuses on developing the participants understanding and skills as team leaders or frontline managers where supervision and leadership of work teams is a large part of their job.

The key skills and knowledge participants will gain through this qualification include:

- › leading and promoting effective communication in the workplace
- › monitoring and obtaining feedback on their own work performance and accessing learning opportunities for professional development
- › assuming responsibility for their own work performance and be role models for others
- › developing, maintaining and modelling positive workplace relationships
- › planning and supervising the performance of the team to develop team cohesion
- › supporting, mentoring and developing new recruits
- › implementing the operational plan by monitoring and adjusting operational performance, planning and acquiring resources and providing reports on performance

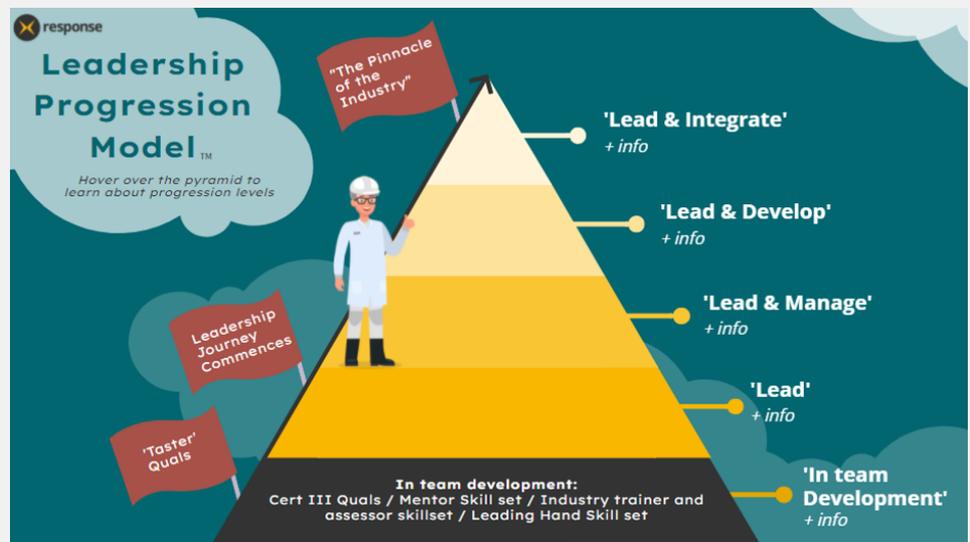

- › implementing the organisation's continuous improvement systems and processes
- › participating in the reduction of workplace health and safety risks in a meat processing plant
- › overseeing a Hazard Analysis Critical Control Point (HACCP)-based Quality Assurance (QA) program, and
- › monitoring the hygiene and sanitation performance of a plant.

BENEFITS

- › Develop the confidence to move from 'in team' leaders and into the role of frontline leaders, as you commence your leadership journey. Have the image near here if possible
- › Enhance understanding and application of 'self-management' including decision making, distraction management, emotional self-control and the value of diaries and planning our time.
- › Enhance understanding of how a culture can be influenced and changed by the behaviour of the leaders and the importance of effective relationships.
- › Develop the skills to integrate the new learnings to get the best performance out of the team and yourself.

Who is the Certificate IV in Meat Processing (Leadership) for?

The Certificate IV in Meat Processing (Leadership) is designed for first line managers, including supervisors and team leaders, working in a meat industry context. The units within this qualification apply to individuals who take responsibility for their own work and for the quality of others' work within known parameters. These leaders provide and communicate solutions to a range of predictable and sometimes unpredictable problems.

How is the course delivered?

This qualification is broken down into six (6) events as outlined in the course details. It is delivered as a blended delivery model which includes face to face workshops, online learning and on the job implementation and reflection.

Are there entry requirements?

There are no entry requirements for this qualification.

How am I supported through my journey?

We know that learning is a commitment for both individuals and their organisations, which is why we'll be there to support participants throughout their study journey. We provide prompt, personalised and ongoing support from our Support Team throughout the duration of the program.
